

WARREN PRO
EXPERT & PROFESSIONAL SERVICES

JANUARY 2015 NEWSLETTER

From Anthony Sartor & John Sartor

This month, we are shining the spotlight on WarrenPro, a company which was designed to assist insurance companies and legal firms in the prosecution and defense of claims. It is led by Joe Lifrieri, who has been in the PS&S family for more than 35 years, starting in 1979 as the Assistant Chief Geotechnical Engineer. Joe has a Ph.D. in Engineering and has decades of service on a variety of multi-disciplined engineering and architectural projects. Our employee spotlight this month is on Renard Barnes, WarrenPro's Managing Director and General Counsel for the AJS family of companies.

From Warren Pro President Joe Lifrieri

For WarrenPro, RISK is a four-letter word. Our business is dedicated to managing, minimizing and reducing liability, or simply put, controlling risk as much as possible. Our services span multiple industries, including insurance, legal, pharmaceutical, and healthcare.

Our clients usually have one key question: Our insurance clients ask "am I liable?" For our attorney clients it's, "Can I win?" WarrenPro's engineers, forensics analysts, scientists and consultants have probed and evaluated hundreds of projects, and we use our expertise to answer those questions honestly and see the case through to a successful outcome.

Employee Spotlight: Renard Barnes

He scored four points in an NCAA tournament game, fixed broken steam pipes under the streets of New York and successfully argued a jury trial saving his client hundreds of thousands of dollars. Yes, a man this versatile actually exists. And he's sitting right down the hall.

Renard Barnes is the Managing Director of WarrenPro and General Counsel for the AJS family of companies, but clearly his story has many, many chapters.
